Gilding in...New York City
Two upcoming Gilding Classes for June 13 & 14-16
New York is always a great place to teach gilding, a time to reconnect with people and with the city itself. The classes themselves continue to evolve in unexpected ways to help guide students on their path to understanding the complex landscape of this beautiful art and craft.

Gilding can be expressed in so many ways, from water gilded pastiglia on paper and white gold leaf on glass to crackled gessoed water gilded picture frames and the use of gesso punchwork, incision, and sgraffito techniques reminiscent of exquisite examples of 13th - 15th c Italian panels (an excellent article by Annika Finn through the Institute of Fine Arts at NYU, may be found here where she discusses the 15th century egg tempera and gilded panel, Adoration of the Child, 1473, by Sano di Pietro, from the Samuel H. Kress Collection, Mead Art Museum, Amherst, MA.).

To begin to understand the principles of any of the methods of gold leaf gilding, whether traditional water gilding, mordant/oil gilding, manuscript illumination, or verre églomisé, becoming a gilder, like a student of any of the arts, takes a certain dedication to research, study, and most importantly, practice. To help get you started on your path, or to provide an encouraging place to 'check-in' at any point along your personal or professional study, I hope that you will find that the classes offered can help open doors for you in your understanding of the gilding arts. Together with the ever-enthusiastic support of Sepp Leaf Products and GildedPlanet.com, our gilding outreach program is a resource which we hope can help provide assistance along the way. The Gilding Arts Newsletter keeps us in touch so that learning continues beyond the classroom while Social Media such as the new YouTube Channel and Instagram provides video clips and photos to inspire.

Meanwhile, time is coming close for another exciting week in New York! The Fine artists among us will work with gilding suitable for canvas, or paper, while exploring the water gilding method for panels as they seek to embellish their artworks with silver or gold. The three-day Traditional Water Gilding class will open your understanding of this centuries-old method of gilding. A fun week ahead!

'Till New York then!...

Peace, health, and clarity,

Charles

"I hear and I forget. I see and I remember. I do and I understand."
Gold Leaf Gilding for Works of Art on Canvas, Paper, and Panels...
a Study for Fine Artists

Over the years I had often been asked by painters how gold leaf can be used on canvases or painted panels, usually bearing in mind the works of Gustav Klimt (Austrian Symbolist, 1862-1918) and his adroit use of gold leaf in a number of his works of art, some of which can be seen at the Neue Gallery in New York including a special showing through September 25, 2017 of his Portrait of Adele Bloch-Bauer, also known as Woman in Gold (an impromptu after-class field trip in June perhaps?)

These various conversations with painters eventually led me to develop a gilding class specifically for fine artists where together we could explore the possibilities of gilding in combination with other art mediums, techniques, and materials while I help to offer a grounding in gilding principles and technique - how to manipulate loose gold leaf, to use the gilder's...
tools, to know what options may exist and to explore the use of oil size, gum ammoniac, gum arabic, glair and contemporary acrylic emulsions and adhesives such as Kölner's miniatum and instacoll. And ultimately, how traditional water gilding can become a serious element of the painter's palette.

The combination of painting and gilding within works of art can be found throughout history in such forms as manuscript illumination where the earliest surviving examples date to the 4th to 7th century, 10th - 12th century Byzantium Icons, and the beautifully elaborate brocateado de oro Peruvian techniques of the 17th - 18th century Cuzco School.

As life would have it, I have such an artist who is intrigued by the use of gold leaf and silver in his paintings next door to me at my Seattle studio, Josh Pemberton. Josh, whose work he says is in the narrative realist tradition, extends from the mythical and spiritual to the natural and fantastic. In evenings we sometimes talk of gilded backgrounds on canvas as used so exquisitely by contemporary artist Brad Kunkle; the self-leveling of oil size, the long-term open quality of acrylic emulsion which can allow long periods of time to adhere the leaf while leaving brush marks in its wake, which may or may not serve the vision. And ultimately, the use of traditional water gilding and the possibilities as seen through the Egg Tempera paintings and water gilded backgrounds of Fred Wessel.
Our conversations help keep me in tune with what can be the never-ending questions of art but which ultimately can help us remain engaged.
